

Yuhan Chen

Commerce student - Economics
James Cook University, Singapore

Draft status

This sample demonstrates the website download feature. It is not a verified CV for applications. Confirm all profile information, replace the sample file, and add real account links before using it professionally.

Academic profile

A commerce student with a background in mathematics and physics, interested in machine learning, statistics, and finance.

Education

James Cook University, Singapore

Bachelor of Commerce - Economics

Dates, academic results, and relevant coursework to be confirmed.

Technical foundations

Programming: Python, C / C++, SQL

Data and modelling: NumPy, Pandas, TensorFlow / Keras

Mathematics: Calculus, linear algebra, probability and statistics

Areas of interest

Retrieval-augmented generation, model adaptation, AI agents, quantitative research, and quantitative development.

Projects and contact

Verified projects, repository links, contact details, and professional experience will be added to the final CV. No project achievements are asserted by this sample.